APPLICANT

To obtain classifiable fingerprints:

1. Use printer's ink.
2. Distribute ink evenly on inking slab.
3. Wash and dry fingers thoroughly.
4. Roll fingers from nail to nail, and avoid allowing fingers to slip.
5. Be sure impressions are recorded in correct order.
6. If an amputation or deformity makes it impossible to print a finger, make a notation to that effect in the individual finger block.
7. If some physical condition makes it impossible to obtain perfect impressions, submit the best that can be obtained with a memo stapled to the card explaining the circumstances.
8. Examine the completed prints to see if they can be classified, bearing in mind the following:
   Most fingerprints fall into the patterns shown below (other patterns occur infrequently and are not shown here):

1. LOOP

THE LINES BETWEEN CENTER OF LOOP AND DELTA MUST SHOW

2. WHORL

THESE LINES RUNNING BETWEEN DELTAS MUST BE CLEAR

3. ARCH

ARCHES HAVE NO DELTAS

Law-enforcement agencies using this card for pistol permits, licenses, etc., should indicate type of permit or position in space "COMPANY AND ADDRESS."

Department of Defense activities and contractors initiating this card will make no entries in "CONTRIBUTOR AND ADDRESS" and "NUMBER." Such entries will be made by the Department of Defense investigative agencies concerned. Department of Defense activities using this card for military personnel or civilian employees will enter designation and address of requesting activity in "COMPANY AND ADDRESS." Department of Defense contractors will enter contractor's name and address in "COMPANY AND ADDRESS."

The space "NUMBER" should contain the number designated for the particular case or code designation. The number appearing in this space will be quoted on answers to the fingerprint search.

Senators Say Offer By Hanoi Is Encouraging

By MORRIS CUNNINGHAM
From The Commercial Appeal Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, April 3. — Mid-South hawks and doves agreed Wednesday Hanoi's surprise offer to negotiate is encouraging even though murky and unclear.

Senator John Stennis (D-Miss.), chairman of the Senate preparedness subcommittee and a leading hawk, cautioned that "It is impossible to know now what is meant but it certainly appears to be significant and encouraging."

Chairman J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and a leader of Senate doves, said the North Vietnam offer is "certainly very important."

"It is quite different from the outright rejections we have received on past occasions."

Fulbright said he hoped there would be a cease-fire before any formal negotiations begin, but would not make this a precondition for talks.

Fulbright conceded he was wrong when he predicted in the Senate Tuesday that the new bombing restrictions imposed by President Johnson would prove of little consequence and would offer no inducement to peace negotiations.

He said Mrs. Fulbright had criticized his Tuesday remarks, telling him that he talked too much. "She told me I should keep my mouth shut."

Senator Albert Gore (D-Tenn.), a member of Fulbright's committee and who often agrees with the Arkansan, said of the Hanoi offer: "At least it is movement—and movement in the right direction."

"While it is the first overt move for a face-to-face conversation, we should not be too optimistic because the statement is hedged in extremely obscure language, is subject to translation and interpretation, and maybe even to varying interpretations. But at least it is movement — movement away from dead center.

"We don't know whether this is a genuine overture or a propaganda move to counteract President Johnson's move which had world appeal. Nevertheless, we must assume that it is genuine and serious and explore it and exploit it if possible.

"One thing I have cautioned about is a repetition of the Panmunjom experience in Korea in which we lost more men during the talks than before the talks began.

"If there is to be a conference I hope a cease-fire will be a primary objective — not just cessation of bombing but cease-fire in all respects by both sides."

There was very little speculation here on the possible effect of the Hanoi offer on the American presidential race. Gore said "It is too nebulous to have any effect at this time."

Israel Has Oranges

GAZA CITY, Egypt, April 3. — (AP) — Citrus growers in the Israeli-occupied Gaza Strip expect to export one million crates of oranges this season.

Memphis Bands Rated Superior

Seven school bands received superior ratings in the West Tennessee band contest at Jackson, including five from Memphis.

The schools are Richland Junior High School, Colonial Junior High, Christian Brothers High School, Messick High School and Central High School, all of Memphis, and Central High School of Bolivar and Germantown High School.

Eighteen bands won excellent ratings. The Memphis schools in that category are Bellevue and Snowden Junior High Schools, and Wooddale, Frayser, Hillcrest, Overton and White Station High.

SMALL TOWN HAM MAKES GOOD
Good eating, that is. Especially when you serve it with this wonderful Fruit Cocktail-Currant Jelly sauce. (And you know how popular Fruit Cocktail is.) You make it this way: scoop a small jar of red currant jelly into a saucepan. Add a medium-size can of drained Fruit Cocktail. Then a teaspoon of dry mustard. Heat and stir until jelly is melted. Try it tonight with your favorite canned, boneless, or regular ham.

Monetary Talks Due

LONDON, April 3. — (UPI) — British Chancellor of the Exchequer Roy Jenkins flew to the United States Wednesday for two days of talks with Secretary of the Treasury Henry J. Fowler. Jenkins also was expected to see other United States officials in Washington and have a possible meeting with Robert McNamara, new president-elect of the World Bank. He will also visit Boston and New York.

LBJ's Health Is Discounted As Factor In Withdrawing

By ARTHUR J. SNIDER
The Commercial Appeal-Chicago Daily News Service

President Johnson's health would have permitted him to become a candidate for another term of office, two of his physicians said yesterday.

Dr. James C. Cain of the Mayo Clinic of Rochester, Minn., said the President, who is 59, is in excellent condition.

His cardiologist, Dr. J. Willis Hurst of Emory University at Atlanta, said Mr. Johnson has "had no trouble at all" since his heart attack in 1955 and there is no reason to believe he would be in any danger during the next four years.

While health presumably was not involved in the shaping of the President's decision, the physicians indicated that had they been asked for a medical opinion, neither would have hesitated to give his approval.

Some speculation on reasons for the decision, other than those Mr. Johnson gave, has involved concern over whether he could withstand four years more of burden.

Reached in Boston where he is attending a convention of the American College of Physicians, Dr. Cain said the President's electrocardiograms, heart and pulse rates are normal.

Dr. Hurst noted that the longer a patient continues free of symptoms after a heart attack, the better his prognosis.

"Since almost 13 years has passed without further trouble, he is clearly in the category of a man who has never had a heart attack," Hurst said.

The cardiologist, professor and chairman of the department of medicine at Emory, said the President is an "active and vigorous" man and is not restricted in any way.

Both physicians were at the bedside when Johnson, then a United States senator, was stricken July 2, 1955. Cain said at that time the heart attack was "moderately severe."

Postal Buildings Blocked In House

Union Station Complex Is Tied Up In Dispute

Plans to construct a nine-million-dollar Post Office complex on the Union Station site at 199 East Calhoun have been pigeonholed by a House subcommittee.

A jurisdictional battle between the White House and House Public Works subcommittee on public buildings and grounds has tied up plans for 23 Post Office facilities across the nation.

The Union facility would replace DeSoto and Davis stations, Butler Annex and the Post Office garage. Most offices now in the Main Street Post Office would be shifted to Calhoun when the new building is completed.

Without the approval of the subcommittee, headed by Representative Kenneth J. Gray (D.-Ill.), Congress cannot put up funds for the projects. It is anticipated that the Johnson administration will back away from the battle and the projects will be cleared.

Plans for the projects were sent back to the General Services Administration by the subcommittee because of an administration stand that President Johnson, and not the subcommittee, should decide which projects are approved and which held back.

Pitch For Unity Made By King

2,000 Hear Rights Leader Scoff At Injunction, Belittle Violence

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. last night told more than 2,000 persons at Mason Temple that Monday's mass march must be held to refocus attention on the eight-week-old sanitation workers strike.

"If the police dogs and fire hoses in Alabama couldn't stop us, an injunction in Memphis, Tenn., can't," he told the disappointingly small crowd.

Pleading for unity, Dr. King said: "We have got to stay together and maintain unity. We have to keep the issues where they are supposed to be. The issue is the refusal of Memphis to be honest with its public servants who happen to be garbage men."

Dr. King said the violence that erupted during last Thursday's mass march caused attention to focus on the "broken windows."

"That's what happens when you have a little violence. The press concentrated on the broken windows and not on the issues."

He said Southern Christian Leadership Conference lawyers are going into court this morning to fight "this illegal, unconstitutional injunction."

Dr. King again called for economic boycotts against leading Memphis businesses.

"We don't need bricks and bottles and Molotov cocktails. We're building an economic base and putting pressure where it hurts."

Again, Dr. King urged persons to leave work and school to join Monday's march.

He is expected to speak again tonight during another mass meeting at Mason Temple.

Dr. Ralph Abernathy, one of Dr. King's aides, said it was a tribute to Dr. King's leadership that only a few persons in the March 28 march became violent. He praised Dr. King highly.

He said despite Dr. King's honors he has not yet decided to be president of the United States.

"But he is the man who tells the President what to do."

In New York yesterday a civil rights leader and a labor leader said the Rev. Dr. King had changed the mass march from Friday to Monday so that the demonstration ranks could be swelled by those planning a nationwide "march on Memphis."

The announcement of the massive convergence on Memphis was made by Bayard Rustin, president of the A. Philip Randolph Institute and organizer of the 1964 march on Washington, and Victor Gotbaud, executive director of District Council 37 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes (the union representing the Memphis strikers).

The two men said more than 6,000 persons are expected to converge on Memphis from throughout the country.

And John De Lury, president of the (Montgomery, Ala.) Sanitation Workers Union, who led a strike there, said members of his union plan a mass movement on Memphis by plane, train, bus and private car to join the march.

The number of strike- and riot-connected incidents continued to decline. The last battalion of the Tennessee National Guard—the local unit—was released from active duty. Others in the 3,800 who served here during the emergency had returned to their homes gradually over the last few days. Guard officials said they could be alerted again in a matter of hours.

The 200 Tennessee Highway Patrol troopers who had been here since Thursday also returned home yesterday.

In incidents yesterday, Gene Harold Allen 14, of 326 Eastview told police five Negro youth jumped from a drainage ditch on Walnut Grove Road just west of East High School at 9:20 a.m. and took his wallet, which contained no money.

In the same general area, B. C. Dowdle, owner of Dowdle Sporting Goods store at 2896 Walnut Grove, reported his store broken into. Three automatic rifles, several shotguns, some knives and a quantity of ammunition were taken.

Fire Chief E. A. Hamilton said the number of fire calls had dropped back to almost normal.

New Role For Cronkite

SYRACUSE, N.Y., April 3. — (UPI) — Walter Cronkite, managing editor of the CBS evening news, will be the commencement speaker at Syracuse University June 2, it was announced Wednesday. Cronkite, who has worked for CBS since 1950, was a war correspondent for United Press during World War II, chief UP correspondent at the Nuremberg war crimes trials and correspondent from 1946-48 in UP's Moscow bureau.

KNOWN AS HOME — Sgt. John Dean had good old home cooking yesterday, a welcome repast compared to food in the field in Vietnam. His father, Jesse Dean, did the food serving as his brother, Jesse Dean Jr. and mother served the smiles.

Home Crowds Out Horrors Of War

By LINDLEY RICHERT

Sgt. John Dean had to hold the Purple Heart in his left hand as he showed it to friends gathered yesterday to welcome him home from Vietnam.

"I carried my right arm (blown off at the shoulder by a Viet Cong hand grenade) in the helicopter all the way to the hospital. But after a couple of days infection set in and the sewn-on arm had to be amputated."

The 19-year-old soldier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse A. Dean of 4258 Tutwiler, talks with anticipation of getting a new limb at Walter Reed Army Hospital soon, and plans "to exercise my choice and stay in the Army another 18 years . . . yes, I am a career man. I will have been in the service two years this Friday."

Sergeant Dean's narrative reads like fiction created in a super-fertile mind rather than a horrible reality.

"I had been in Vietnam about seven months and was a sergeant in the First Air Cavalry Division near Hue. Our company of 130 men was part of the first assault front to move into Hue in the Feb. 12 attempt to take the city.

"Our company and others nearby had been airlifted to the rice fields near the city.

"By pursuing an enemy tank our 130 men were drawn into an ambush. Viet Cong leaped from positions in the rice paddies and left all but 20 of us dead."

Sergeant Dean said he commanded his 10 men to seek the weakest point in the ambush and counterattack. "That is the only way out."

He was hit in the face and hip by rifle fire. Felled, he crawled toward a hole in the paddy.

"I guess that VC saw me crawling because he lobbed a hand grenade at me. That's how I lost my arm. Three buddies in the hole were killed.

"As he approached I played dead. Must have played the part pretty well because the VC just took my rifle."

Remembering his jungle training in Hawaii, he said, he stuffed bandages into the wounds and treated himself for shock by elevating his feet with his helmet.

He said he lay in the trench nearly eight hours before being airlifted to the Da Nang Navy Hospital.

"I thought the wait would kill me. I did a lot of praying."

General William C. Westmoreland presented Sergeant Dean the Purple Heart at Tripler Army Hospital in Hawaii.

Valor apparently is inherently in the Dean family. M. Sgt. Jesse A. Dean (USA, ret.) holds five Purple Hearts, a Silver Star, Bronze Star and 28 other decorations for combat in World War II and in Korea.

Jesse Dean Jr. holds an honorable discharge from the United States Marine Corps.

Fellow members of Thrifthaven Baptist Church who have sons in Vietnam last night prepared the welcome home dinner for Sergeant Dean and his family.

"How is morale among the GIs? Good when the choppers could get in with mail; good when the infantry got its one hot meal a month; good when the so-called 'cease fires' were over."

MOTEL CONTRACT IS LET

Clark & Zelner Will Build Civic Center Unit

Clark & Zelner, Inc., contractors, is the low bidder on the construction contract for the 260-room Albert Pick Motel in the block bounded by Second, Winchester, Market and Third in the Civic Center.

William B. Clark said his firm bid slightly more than 1.9 million dollars on the construction contract for the 2.5-million-dollar facility. He said officials of his firm will be in Houston, Texas, today to sign final agreements with the Wayne Duddlesten interests, developers of the motel.

Construction, expected to begin within 30 days, will take 14 months.

The Houston firm paid the Memphis Housing Authority 256,228 for the 102,083 square-foot tract or $2.26 per square foot.

The motel plan calls for 11 floors above ground, including 10 floors of motel rooms. The ground floor will be occupied by a portion of the 260-space parking garage, a restaurant, check-in desk, lounge and meeting rooms. An underground floor will contain the balance of the parking and several recreation and meeting rooms. An outside swimming pool also is planned.

Masaryk's Death Back In Spotlight

Czech Officials To Reinvestigate 20-Year-Old Disputed Mystery

PRAGUE, April 3. — (UPI) — The Czechoslovak state prosecutor's office announced Wednesday it will reinvestigage the controversial death of former Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk, a disputed mystery for 20 years.

The body of Dr. Masaryk, son of the founder of Czechoslovakia, Thomas G. Masaryk, was found in the courtyard of the Foreign Ministry March 10, 1948.

Foreign NEWS Roundup

The Communist regime which had just seized power said he committed suicide by jumping from a bathroom window. For two decades belief has circulated both here and abroad that he was murdered. His death symbolizes the brutality of Stalin era rule for millions of his countrymen.

An announcement by deputy general prosecutor Frantisek Zabransky that the case would be reopened was viewed as part of the liberal trend in the new Communist regime which took control last January. The senior Masaryk, for years a "non person," has been rehabilitated.

Meanwhile, the shakeup in the Czech government continued. Deputy Premier Otakar Simunek and Defense Minister Bohumir Lomsky resigned Wednesday as the new reformist leadership pushed a sweeping reshuffle of the Communist government and party hierarchy. The two formerly were supporters of the ousted president and party chief, Antonin Novotny.

British Wage Battle Due

The New York Times News Service

LONDON, April 3. — Battle lines were drawn Wednesday between the Labor government and labor unions as the government in a white paper announced details of tougher policies to hold increases in wages, salaries and dividends to 3.5 per cent a year.

The government proposes to take reserve powers to delay pay and price increases 12 months, to require price cuts where recommended by the prices and incomes board, to moderate and phase rent increases and to prevent excessive dividends by corporations.

Despite opposition from union officials in and out of Parliament on the wage curbs, and despite the loss of popular support in recent by-elections, cabinet ministers believe they can enact the forthcoming legislation, although with a reduced majority.

However, observers believe the test will come when the government tries to enforce the 3.5 per cent ceiling in the face of hostile union demands for wage increases of 5 per cent and more.

Nigerian Cease-Fire May Be Near

LONDON, April 3. — (UPI) — A Socialist peer, Lord Brockway announced Wednesday he had received a letter from Nigerian rebel leader Lt. Col. Odumegwu Ojukwu indicating breakaway Biafra was prepared for a ceasefire.

Lord Brockway, chairman of an All-Party Committee for Peace in Nigeria, quoted Ojukwu as saying he was prepared for an immediate cease-fire and negotiations "without reconditions on either side."

Russia Charges Red Chinese Interference

MOSCOW, April 3. — (UPI — The Soviet Union charged Wednesday that Red China detained a Russian tanker carrying supplies to North Vietnam and that Chinese soldiers broke down doors and used force against its captain and crew. It was the third case this year of official Soviet protests against detention and alleged mistreatment of Russian ships and sailors in Chinese ports.

Panama Court Studies Impeachment Data

PANAMA, April 3. — (AP) — The Panamanian Supreme Court went to the shuttered Legislative Palace Wednesday to study documents related to the impeachment and dismissal of President Marco A. Robles by the National Assembly March 24. An injunction before the court alleges that the impeachment proceedings against Robles were illegal and unconstitutional. The court will rule on this probably by week's end.

Hippies Brave Raging Flames For Art's Sake

ANTWERP, Belgium, April 3. — (UPI) — Hippies and flower children, faces and multicolored caftans blackened and singed, raced repeatedly into a blazing 16th Century church early Wednesday to save 10 million dollars worth of Flemish art masterpieces.

The Gothic Church of St. Paul's, containing untold riches in historic wood carvings, was destroyed in the fire.

No one knew exactly how the blaze, spreading from a sporting goods store next door, got started.

More than 60 students and young persons, many of the hippies, poured out of nearby all-night dance halls and went into action long before police and fire fighters arrived. An early police report said the paintings had been destroyed, but the youths already were piling paintings in doorways and the dance halls.

The church, with its treasure of more than 40 paintings by Peter Paul Rubens, Van Dyck, Jordaens and Teniers the Elder is well known to tourists as well as Belgians.

"We had no choice," said a burly art student, his black beard whitened by soot and smoke. "We've been bbrought up on Rubens and Van Dyck. Risking our lives was the least we could do."

"I've never seen anything like it," said a police officer. "The kids never even hesitated. They just jumped in and got to it."

Flaming timbers dropped around their heads as some used pocketknives to loosen the masterpieces from cumbersome, ornately carved wooden frames.

The salvaged masterpieces included Rubens' "Flagellation" and "Holy Sacrament" and the "Carrying of The Cross" by Van Dyck.

Experts said the paintings, even the most seriously damaged, could be restored.

Victory Is Seen As Allied Drive Nears Khe Sanh

Thousands Of Troops Knife Within Three Miles Of Besieged Fortress

By THOMAS CHEATHAM

SAIGON, April 4. — (Thursday). — (UPI) — A Marine general declared the battle for Khe Sanh won as thousands of allied troops Thursday knifed to within three miles of the besieged outpost in a juggernaut to "put the enemy out of business" in northern South Vietnam.

United States military spokesmen said American helicopter gunships supporting the troops trapped a North Vietnamese company of 120 men in an open field and killed 20.

Heavy fighting Wednesday was reported in two areas north of Tan Son Nhut Air Base near Saigon. Spokesmen said 29 Communists died in the clashes with allied forces.

Advancing eight miles behind columns of tanks rumbling over a boobytrapped, rutted road, 10,000 United States Marines and South Vietnamese infantrymen were out to crush the North Vietnamese armies that had laid siege to Khe Sanh since Jan. 21. They sought to secure all of South Vietnam's northwest corner near the Laotian border, a key Communist infiltration corridor.

It was the first time last September that American forces ventured along the twisting Highway 9 that links Khe Sanh with vital coastal supply points.

The going was slow. Mines and boobytraps were plentiful and thick elephant grass along the roadside held unknown danger. Troops hacked through the grass, 11 feet high in spots, to protect engineers clearing the road.

There was little resistance from Communist troops, although they blew up 17 bridges along the line of march.

In the air war, United States pilots Wednesday continued to hit North Vietnam well below the 20th Parallel border established by President Johnson's limited bombing halt.

Navy pilots hit rail sidings and bridges in the southern panhandle. Spokesmen said their northermost strike was a rail siding 12 miles northwest of Thanh Hoa, 15 miles below the 20th Parallel.

United States air cavalrymen poured into Khe Sanh's surrounding hills in swarms of helicopters. They found empty foxholes and trenches and said some of the peaks, almost within sight of Khe Sanh, were still aflame from blistering artillery and air bombardments.

In Da Nang, Lt. Gen. Robert Cushman said American firepower coupled with the courage of the 10,000 defenders had won the battle of Khe Sanh.

Cushman, commander of I Corps, said the big push was the second stage of a counteroffensive to secure South Vietnam's entire northwest corner.

Gunfire Downs Patrol Plane, US Confirms

SAIGON, April 4. — (Thursday) — (AP) — The United States Command confirmed Thursday that a Navy patrol plane with 12 men aboard was shot down Monday while participating in an operation against gun-running in the Gulf of Siam off South Vietnam's west coast.

An official announcement said only that the plane reported being "hit by antiaircraft fire." Other sources had reported earlier that the four-engine turboprop craft, a P3 Orion, was fired on by a Cambodian ship.

The command said the bodies of two crewmen were recovered and search operations were continuing.

The plane had been patrolling between the island and the mainland as part of Operation Market Time, the command reported. The operation is an allied sea and air campaign to intercept enemy junks and trawlers bringing arms and supplies to the Viet Cong.

The Orions usually operate about 50 miles off the South Vietnamese coast.

In Service In Vietnam

Ted Larry Morrow

Fireman Ted Larry Morrow of 3145 Madeline Court has been awarded the Navy Commendation Medal with Combat V for his action when his boat came under enemy attack during a sweep in the Dinh Tuong Province.

Fireman Morrow, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Morrow of Memphis, was serving as a gunner on the Navy armored troop carrier when the attack came.

The boat was one of the lead units, becoming a prime target throughout the harrowing mile-long passgate between heavily fortified enemy positions ashore.

In the ensuing firefight, "the boat received three B40 rocket hits," the Navy reported. "Four members of the crew were wounded and the boat was severely damaged.

"But Fireman Morrow remained at his station throughout the engagement and laid down a continuous and effective counter-fire until the enemy fire was completely halted."

Fireman Morrow, who was graduated in 1966 from Trezevant High School, received the commendation medal March 22 from Capt. Robert S. Salzer, commander of River Flotilla One, after the boat was anchored in the My Tho River.

He was cited for returning a "high volume of extremely accurate suppressive fire" despite a barrage of enemy automatic weapons, recoilless rifle and rocket fire from as close as 30 feet.

Fireman Morrow entered the Navy in July, 1966.

Miniskirt Inspires Litter Campaign Copy

NEW YORK, April 3. — (AP) — A number of advertising agencies have recently traded upon the Keep America Beautiful slogan to help sell cosmetics and other grooming products.

But litter fighters in Indiana are getting even by using a product theme to help sell litter prevention.

The Indiana campaign reminds citizens: "Keep Indiana beautiful. Support miniskirts . . . That's one way. Another way is to throw your bottles, cans and paper in a container, not on the ground."

Party Leaders Back Ellington As Favorite Son

Two Shelby County Democratic leaders yesterday reported "a tremendous response" to the proposal that Gov. Buford Ellington go to the party's national convention as Tennessee's favorite son nominee.

There is reason to believe that support for Governor Ellington will spread to neighboring states, said John Ford Canale and James Irwin.

The governor meets April 15 with other Democratic governors in St. Louis to discuss the presidential campaign, and there are reports Mr. Ellington worked behind the scenes to arrange that meeting. It was called by Iowa Gov. Harold Hughes, chairman of the National Democratic Governors Conference.

Mississippi Gov. John Bell Williams said Tuesday night Governor Ellington was one of several candidates acceptable to him for the nomination.

Lewis Taliaferro, chairman of the county executive committee, said a regularly scheduled meeting of the committee will probably be held next week with the Ellington candidacy on the agenda.

Mr. Canale is vice chairman of the executive committee and Mr. Irwin is former county chairman of the party.

Their efforts were seen as a move to combat expected efforts by forces of either Senator Robert F. Kennedy (N.Y.) or Eugene McCarthy (Minn.) to gain control of the June 25 state convention in Nashville.

Both said as much. "At a time when peace overtures are being made, we do not feel that our party should centralize its support behind critics of our Vietnam policy," Mr. Irwin said.

Mr. Canale mentioned the possibility of "a move afoot perhaps to split the delegates in favor of candidates that favor the extreme dove position in Vietnam."

In Nashville, a stop-Ellington movement has already begun among the newly organized Concerned Democrats of Tennessee, an anti-Vietnam War group.

Tuesday night, Nashville members of the group met at Vanderbilt University and were told by State Chairman Roger Cowan of Greeneville that he opposed any favorite son candidate from Tennessee.

"But if we have to have a favorite son," asked Mr. Cowan, a professor and writer, "why not make it the man who truly is your favorite son, Senator Albert Gore?"

Mr. Cowan made it clear his group wants to torpedo efforts to keep Governor Ellington from becoming the state's first-ballot choice at the convention.

Mr. Canale said the Ellington drive was launched almost before the echoes of President Johnson's Sunday night speech had ended.

"We embarked on a campaign of contacting numerous businessmen, professional men and labor people, housewives and young people and asking them to indicate their support for Governor Ellington to the state Democratic Executive Committee.

"These requests have met with tremendous response from the various people we have contacted. We feel that it is certainly possible we will pick up support from other states."

Mr. Canale also said he felt it was important to the local party "that we make a move toward unity" and said Governor Ellington is the person most able to bring about that unity. He said Secretary of State Joe Carr reported a heavy, favorable response to the plan.

"We feel it is vital to the future of our party and country that the Democratic delegates not allow the President's critics to grasp the leadership of our party due to any inaction on our part," said Mr. Irwin.

Both men urged that interested persons write Mr. Carr in Nashville and, by that method, let Governor Ellington know of their urgings. Mr. Carr is state party treasurer.

A telegram received by The Commercial Appeal yesterday listed names of more than 100 persons who have wired the governor endorsing him as a favorite son candidate.

Among them were M. R. Holliday, president of Teamsters Local 984; Mr. and Mrs. W. Jeter Eason, Mrs. Kutcher Threefoot, Robert Z. T. Anthony, Pat Heffernan, John M. Heiskell, Margaret Wilkinson and Paul Barrett of Millington, Shelby County political leader and former County Court squire.

Also on the list were Guy Bates, Shelby County register; W. Porter Grace, Walter A. Barrett, Carl T. Moore, Tennessee area director for the United Auto Workers; UAW international representatives B. C. Eason and V. Ray Castell and Jenny Lee Murphy, president of Local 367 of the Office Employes International Union.

Others are John Kizer, president of UAW Local 1004; L. T. Freeman of Local 903, Edwin E. Barnett of Local 894 and F. P. Grubbs of Local 1086, Thomas F. O'Brien, Everett R. Cook and E. W. 'Ned' Cook.

Gambling Talk Spices Debate

House Adopts Ethics Code, Hears Charge That Ring Operates On 'Hill'

WASHINGTON, April 3. — (UPI) — The House adopted a code of ethics Wednesday after debate spiced by revelation that a gambling ring operates on Capitol Hill with daily payoffs in the thousands of dollars.

A 404 to 1 roll call vote approved the code. With only Representative Peter Frelinghuysen (R-N.J.) objecting to the measure's disclosure provision, arguing it was unneeded and unclear. The Senate approved a code of ethics on March 22.

Representative John Kyl (R-Iowa) said a quiet investigation over the past year shows "a very large number" of congressional employes involved in "illegal, well-organized" activity including the numbers racket, sports pools and similar betting ventures.

"I have been closely involved with the investigation," Kyl told the House. "I am personally satisfied that no member of the House or any of its officials are involved."

But he said baseball and football cards and numbers chances can be bought "in every building on this campus" — a term broad enough to cover not only House and Senate and their office buildings but also the Supreme Court and the Library of Congress across the plaza from the Capitol.

The legislation would create a permanent ethics committee and subject members to their first real code. Kyl proposed that the new committee take over as one of its duties the chore of stamping out the gambling ring.

The new code enjoins officials and employes of the House to conduct themselves at all times "in a manner which shall reflect creditably on the House."

Other provisions include a limited annual disclosure of outside assets and income, a ban on receipt of gifts from persons interested in legislation and a prohibition on diversion of campaign funds to personal use.

Amendments to order full financial disclosure and ban testimonial fund-raising dinners outright were shouted down.

Business Hopefuls Learn Profit Makes The Game Go

By DOROTHY BEITH

"The name of the game is profits," Leonard J. Small, director of Project Outreach, told 17 Negro businessmen and potential businessmen at LeMoyne College last night.

Mr. Small's comment came during the first of 12 weekly lectures on business management and operation which will be conducted at the college under the sponsorship of National Business League. Next week's lecture will be at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

He pointed up the need for a no-nonsense approach in business. "You've got to learn to forget sentimentality in business and learn that this country is run on profit. If a man can pay for something, except the necessities of life, of course, then he doesn't need t.i

"Know what you want to do. Know what it will take to do it and what your chances of success are before going into a business."

During the lecture series, Mr. Small said, businessmen who have been successful will talk to the students. In addition, small groups of businessmen attending the lectures will discuss their individual problems and share methods they have developed for solving them.

A poll of the 17 persons at last night's session showed the students range from sundry and grocery store owners to an inventor who is working out final arrangements for marketing his product — a plastic, disposable Holy Communion set.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Blayde, who operates a grocery at Woodstock and are working to get a Small Business Administration loan for a supermarket, were in the class.

"We came because we wanted to know more about how to handle credit," Mr. Blayde said. "And how to be better businessmen," said Mrs. Blayde.

Mrs. Lillie Sease of 1245 Wilson, who owns and operates a beauty shop and sundry store, said she was attending the lecture series, "Because I want to know better how to operate my businesses. I've just had the sundry store since January."

"I came in order to learn more about how to seek financial help in setting up a warehouse," said Lee Visky Powell of 700 Marianna, a mathematics teacher at Ford Road School and inventor of the communion set.

Auto Tag Grace Ends Tomorrow

Two more days remain for motor vehicle owners to buy 1968 state licenses before being subject to fines. The deadline is 5 p.m. tomorrow when the county court clerk's main and branch offices close for the weekend.

The original deadline set for last Monday was extended four days because of the heavy snowfall and last Thursday's riot. Licenses are on sale at the clerk's main office in the County Office Building at 157 Poplar and the branches in the sheriff's substation on Hemcrest Road and the Memphis Bank and Trust Co. at Whitehaven. Sales of licenses have ended at the Merchants Building at the Fairgrounds.

Clerk Robert Gray said the remainder of mail order licenses were to be mailed out by last midnight and the fleet licenses are ready for the purchasers to pick up at his main office.

Coin Collection Gets Green Light

WASHINGTON, April 3. — (UPI) — The Senate Wednesday approved a 5.5-million-dollar tax break for heirs of a drug company fortune which would also permit the Smithsonian Institution to acquire the famous Lilly gold coin collection.

Passed by voice vote and sent to the House was a relief bill sponsored by Indiana Democratic Senators Vance Hartke and Birch Bayh.

Involved was the multi-million dollar estate of Josiah K. Lilly, founder of the Lilly pharmaceutical firm of Indianapolis.

When Lilly died in 1966, he left in his estate a collection of 6,125 gold coins. Their value would have been subject to federal estate tax.

But the Smithsonian indicated it was interested in getting the collection, a move institution officials claimed would make their numismatic section second to none.

Under the bill, the coin collection would go to the Smithsonian without charge. The measure, however, would permit the value of the coins to be credited against federal taxes on the Lilly estate. Smithsonian contends the move would benefit the government despite the resulting revenue loss.

Hanoi's Dubious Terms

PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S dramatic peace offer to North Vietnam has drawn an answer within three days — a response stating "readiness" to talk to the United States. And within less than a day Johnson has agreed to an American meeting with North Vietnam's representatives. The President will hurry to Hawaii tonight to make preparations.

Again, as he did in his Sunday night speech, President Johnson is calling all bluffs.

The aura of optimism, however, must be restrained.

Read the entire Hanoi statement and the optimism shrinks. President Ho Chi Minh has said that talks are possible. In the face of Mr. Johnson's cutback in bombing of North Vietnam, and challenge to Ho to talk about anything anywhere, Hanoi had to indicate some willingness.

But keep the Hanoi response in context.

The bulk of the North Vietnamese statement bristled with descriptions of the United States as barbaric, aggressive, cruel, perfidious, imperialistic, neo-colonialistic, while the Viet Cong were the "valiant" defenders of all Vietnam.

"US defeat is obvious," said Hanoi.

The demand for complete withdrawal of all American and allied troops from South Vietnam was repeated.

Johnson's order for restriction and limitation of the bombing of North Vietnam to the supply areas feeding into South Vietnam was dismissed as "shrewd talk" intended only to placate public opinion.

The President, said Hanoi, has "not correctly and fully responded" to North Vietnam demands.

"However. . . ."

With that word, Ho introduced the sentence which is being interpreted as a major break in Hanoi intransigence.

"However, on its part, the DRV (Democratic Republic of Vietnam, or North Vietnam) government declares its readiness to send its representatives to make contact with US representatives to decide with the US side the unconditional cessation of bombing and all other war acts by the United States against the DRV so that talks could be begun."

Unravel that language and what you have is a thin and fragile thread on which to hang any optimism.

Hanoi is willing to discuss with the United States an unconditional and total cessation of bombing of North Vietnam. By including "all other acts of war," presumably Ho means the defense of South Vietnam must come to a halt, since he considers all Vietnam as his.

If America agrees to that step (no mention of any de-escalation on the part of North Vietnam is made), Hanoi then will talk about peace.

DIPIOMATS and decoders of such international gobbledegook may discern a glimmer of hope in the willingness of Hanoi to talk, even with impossible qualifications.

But Hanoi has made less than a meaningful gesture, and America certainly cannot accept Hanoi's terms. President Johnson has made a counter-offer.

Check to Hanoi again.

March Control Is Essential

MEMPHIS is confronted by the threat of massive civil disobedience. Martin Luther King and followers have put off their planned midtown march until Monday in the hope of bringing in outsiders, none of them involved in the core issue which is the sanitation strike against the City of Memphis, a labor rather than a racial matter.

City strategy has been to seek a federal court restraining order against the march. This was granted temporarily by Judge Bailey Brown, with the understanding that he or Federal Judge Robert McRae could alter or reverse the order.

A possible alteration would be to provide federal marshals to help in controlling such a march. The point is not to help King prove he can lead a "non-violent" march, but to protect Memphis against a repeat of last week's Beale Street destruction.

March leaders indicate they will ignore any court injunction against a King demonstration. That could only invite disturbance and confrontation with law enforcement officers.

The burden should be placed by federal court upon federal law enforcement to control the marchers and to protect the public. Such control is essential.

Winning And Losing At Nashville

TENNESSEE'S legislators have produced protection for the little man who borrows from small loan shops.

The General Assembly in its final hours set up a constitutional convention which can produce major changes in assessment of real estate and buildings for taxation, with protections against annual changes in the formula at the hands of the legislature, county courts or city councils. The convention is forbidden to establish a state income tax, which apparently also rules out city taxation by means of pay roll taxes, service fees or similar methods of reaching the suburban dweller who works in the city.

The same convention call, with little public discussion, allows establishment of a judicial system to replace the patchwork establishment of courts for local purposes.

The convention also may consider lowering the voting age to 18.

But the eventual action depends on approval by the people in statewide referendum, as well as programs of men elected as delegates to the convention, and on what the convention agrees upon in 1971.

The legislators also agreed on allowing counties and cities to hold referendums on adding a half-cent to the local sales tax. Mayors and county court chairmen are strongly in favor but the people in each locality have still to speak on whether the one-cent local sales levy should be increased. The state now collects three per cent.

There is a realistic change in interest laws, expected to end the flight of investment capital from the state, and encourage a return to financing of residences, and a surge of jobs in the home-building industries.

Riot suppression, a topic near the top of the list throughout the session, was rushed into law by the Memphis violence of March 28.

Limitations on cancellation of automobile insurance were adopted.

The Democrats took back control of 37 county election commissions, given to Republicans in 1965.

Launching of the Tennessee version of Medicaid, a program with very high costs, was authorized.

An effort to revise Shelby County districts for election of state senators was lost.

But the lawmakers took the attitude that reform of county courts, to allow city residents as much voting strength as other residents of a county can wait for 1972, or for federal court directives.

Time after time efforts toward change were thrown back by the legislators. They retained the death sentence in Tennessee. They left possession of any liquor in a dry county against the law. They left school boards dependent upon county court and city council appropriations, in the face of an effort to allow appeals to referendums in which the people might have approved higher budgets. They left the "fair trade" price control law of 1937 on the books. They left the use of annual stickers on state automobile license plates. They left unchanged the congressional districts, an invitation for federal judges to make alterations. They left abortion laws unchanged.

This was the first use of the annual session method. On the whole it produced more than seemed likely during early weeks of milling around, perhaps more than could be expected with each member up for renomination in August and with the presidential election approaching. Still, the amount of decisions left for next January will be an important consideration for the public in marking up the score sheets as to which legislators deserve approval or rejection in this summer's primaries.

Wisconsin Votes

WISCONSIN is where the presidential primary idea was born. It is also the state that has provided the greatest number of innovations in the primary procedure, among them the possibility of cross-overs by members of one party into the primary vote of another and this year a negative vote.

In addition, Wisconsin has always been the state of important mavericks. It has had at times a strong Progressive Party led by the never-ending list of La Follettes and in the industrial southeast corner that includes Milwaukee it even had a substantial Socialist Party.

It is a state that could elect a La Follette to the United States Senate in one election and Joe McCarthy to replace him in the next.

Given this background, it is difficult enough to assess the outcome of a presidential primary there. But when to this is added the fact that the incumbent President announces less than 36 hours before the polls open that he is not a candidate for re-election, anybody's guess as to what the vote means can be good.

About the only really safe observation is that both Richard Nixon and Senator Eugene McCarthy received sufficiently large votes to support their hopes until they engage more formidable opponents and that both picked up a parcel of delegates which assures them of a nominating speech at their respective national party conventions if they still want the nomination in August.

We're Not Counting Yet

A Time For Watchful Waiting By Humphrey

By WILLIAM J. EATON
The Commercial Appeal-Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey will be waiting and watching the Kennedy-McCarthy battles awhile before deciding whether to make a run for the Democratic presidential nomination.

It's too late to enter state primaries and Humphrey would be bucking long odds to try to beat Senator Robert F. Kennedy (D-N.Y.) in a head-to-head clash for convention delegates in non-primary states.

But the Vice President does have political strength—especially with organized labor, where Kennedy is relatively weak — and his office has and will continue to give him wide national exposure.

If Mr. Johnson's decision to pull out of the race generates widespread sympathy, Humphrey could benefit and Kennedy might lose some favor along with the other anti-Johnson contender, Senator Eugene McCarthy (D-Minn.).

FORMER VICE President Richard M. Nixon believes Humphrey may have a chance to get the Democratic nomination — or so Nixon said — and so do Democratic Senators Walter F. Mondale (Minn.) and Henry M. Jackson (Wash.) a former national chairman of the party.

Humphrey was in Mexico City, where he went to sign a treaty to keep nuclear weapons out of Latin America, when the President dropped the political bombshell Sunday night.

"This has been no particular secret to me," Humphrey said. "I was aware of his decision . . . this of course has been a sad moment for me. But I've been proud to serve alongside the President. I consider it one of the real privileges of my life."

The ever-loyal Minnesotan said Mr. Johnson's presidency would be hailed by historians and the general public for his "very singular achievements." But he refused to elaborate on his own political plans.

AS LATE AS Friday, Humphrey was talking as if he hoped for and anticipated a Johnson-Humphrey ticket in November.

"President Lyndon Johnson is the man who deserves your commitment now and every day until November," the Vice President told cheering young Democrats before flying to Mexico.

That was Friday, a presidential era ago.

Now, one of Humphrey's oldest political associates said he did not see how the Vice President could get the nomination away from Kennedy.

"If Johnson won't do it for himself — why would he do it for Hubert?" If Bobby can get (Chicago Mayor Richard J.) Daley tomorrow, isn't it all over?

AFL-CIO LEADERS, caught by surprise by the President's decision, sympathized with Humphrey.

But George Meany, AFL-CIO president, made his preference known in 1964 when Mr. Johnson asked for three names to consider for vice president. Meany replied: "Hubert Humphrey" three times. He renewed that endorsement Wednesday.

Humphrey, however, is associated with the President's highly unpopular Vietnam War policy and lived in Mr. Johnson's shadow for nearly four years. Although he seems likely to get the President's blessing for a White House bid, the powers of a lame duck chief executive are not overwhelming.

It would be hard to see how Mr. Johnson could control the convention when local Democrats realize that he will be out of office next January.

Lame Duck President Creates Problems

By CLAYTON FRITCHEY

WASHINGTON. — Former Vice President Richard Nixon's first reaction to the retirement of President Johnson was that it "may have strengthened his hand in the party and made it possible for him to name his successor." Nixon is wide of the mark on both counts.

Johnson's withdrawal, hopefully, may solve some pressing problems, but it also inevitably creates new ones: We already have a lame duck military commander in Vietnam; now we have a lame duck president in the White House. There is no blinking the fact that we are going to have serious leadership difficulties for the next 10 months.

This is mitigated to some extent by the possibility that the opposition in both parties may be softened by sympathy for the President, and also by the fact that his leadership, in any case, has already been seriously eroded, especially in Congress, not only on the war but more acutely in the economic realm of taxes, deficits and inflation.

UNDER THE NEW 25th Amendment to the Constitution, the President could immediately install the Vice President as the new leader if he chose to resign at once, but he is not likely to do this, nor is it likely that such a change would resolve the problem of a prolonged caretaker government, for Hubert Humphrey is totally committed to and identified with all of Johnson's policies, particularly the ones that have been under fire.

So, for the sake of the country, we must all try to make the best of the situation in which we suddenly find ourselves. We know from previous experience that this is not going to be easy, but much can be done merely by resisting the temptation to exploit it.

In their last year of office, Presidents Truman and Eisenhower were also lame ducks of a sort, but, unlike Johnson, they were still in firm control of their respective parties.

Even so, it is only fair to note that both Truman and Eisenhower were not able to get much done in their final year. The record was negative at best. Truman could not settle the Korean War nor prevent the great steel strike. Eisenhower, after the 1960 U2 incident, was never able to recover the initiative on foreign policy.

There is no precedent for the present situation of a retiring president who knows in advance that if his party wins the election he apparently will be succeeded by a rival Democrat pledged to reversing his leader's policies both at home and abroad.

There is also the further unprecedented fact that most of the Democratic senators and representatives will now quickly switch their allegiance from the President to one of the candidates who wants to repudiate Johnson's policies. This does not bode well for the legislation that the administration has been pushing on Capitol Hill.

As the senior victim of Japanese aggression, blockaded China is increasingly resentful of what she considers United Nations neglect. Many things have contributed in this—delay in reopening the Burma Road, greater attention to other Allied fronts, the failure of China to obtain full equality on Allied war councils, and above all the deterioration of China's economic condition. But for Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, compromise with the enemy is unthinkable and his popularity seems greater now than ever before.

The German offensive has been smashed after eight days of furious fighting with the British. The great reserve armies of the Allies, in which American soldiers are carrying the Stars and Stripes into history's most momentous battle, are in motion. The plan is to drive a wedge in the German line in a great flanking movement. Strength of the Franco-American reserve army is estimated at 800,000.

Congress has delivered an ultimatum to the Supreme Court to dismiss an appeal in the McCardle case. The case would test the constitutionality of the Reconstruction Acts and Congress is anxious that the Supreme Court not be allowed to rule on the matter. Congress is exercising powers far beyond those given it in the Constitution, especially in setting up martial law within the territorial limits of the United States.

Dr. Channing, in one of his latest eloquent addresses, said that "the grand end of society is to place within the reach of all its members the means of improvement, of elevation, of the true happiness of man. There is a higher duty than to build an almshouse for the poor, and that is to save men from being degraded by poverty. Man has the right to something besides bread to keep him from starving. He has the right to the aids and encouragement and culture by which he may fulfill the destiny of a man, and until society is brought to recognize this it will continue to groan under its present miseries."

Paul Flowers'

Greenhouse

In response to popular request (indeed, great clamor from one reader) Greenhouse is happy to perpetuate a tradition established many years ago by Blanchard Tual, a tradition more absolutely heralding spring than robins and worms, crappie spawning, Japanese magnolias, forsythia, and bikinis in shop windows.

It is the classic lyric, "Spring Has Came To Arkansas," an effective fragment of communication if I ever saw one.

Here 'tis:

Spring has came, winter has went,
It was not did by accident.
The birds have sang, the grass has grew,
The sun it showed on I and you.

The creeks have ran with melting snow,
St. Francis River done overflow;
The ducks have flew, as you have saw,
And spring has came to Arkansas.

Since I have undertaken the holy mission of imparting a touch of civilization upon shiny-suited boys and girls of the advertising profession, I make this little classic available to them, and recommend it highly — from this they might soar into syntactical stratosphere beyond the petty excursions already achieved with such skim-milk inventions as "like a cigaret should" and "tell it like it is."

If they do not get enough inspiration from Blanchard Tual's offering, they should not give up hope; they can always borrow an idea from the coed who reported:

"I come to this here university to be went with, but ain't been."

RULES TO RAISE CHILDREN BY—or 'HELP'

Not too much love and not too little,
Not too much spending money, or you're in a pickle;
Check on them often and see they behave,
If you do, friend, you'll hear them rave
Leave them alone, and do not share,
Then they'll lament, "Mom does not care!"
We're either too strict or lenient, it seems,
We're never able to come in on beams.
All we can do is hope for the best,
And know the Good Lord will handle the rest.

HE MADE THE PLAN

I took a piece of cloth one day
I fashioned it and planned
A golden cloth, a royal robe
I fashioned with my hand.
He took the robe that I had planned.
"Tis not for you," He said.
I'll make a new one just for you.
He wove from the Master's thread.
He handed me a robe of black
"Tis dark" I said—not bright
"Yes, My child," He whispered
Gethsemane was night
The drops of blood, the sweat, the tears
Are in the warp—the loom
Out of winter's cold and dark
Is fashioned Easter's bloom
I took the robe He planned for me.
'Twas made with nail scarred hands
"I'll wear the Master's Robe," I said
Because He made the plan.

All Contenders Gain In Wisconsin

But 'Crossover Vote' Is Confusing

BY CHARLES NICODEMUS

The Commercial Appeal-Chicago

The Daily State Primary Analysis

Both parties in Wisconsin's Democratic presidential primary today have a chance to claim victory, and that season's contest for the presidency.

Edmund Muskie, Democratic U.S. senator from Maine, and Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater, Republican, are the only candidates who have entered the primary.

Muskie — a nonactivity contest — is not a serious campaigner. He has made only a few speeches in the state in Chicago's suburbs.

For Eugene McCarthy — a nationally unknown senator — it is now a serious campaign. If he can get 15 per cent of the vote by some experts in Wisconsin today, he will be in a position to claim victory over Lyndon Johnson.

For Democratic professionals, the primary is a test of their ability to get out the vote.

Democratic leaders in Wisconsin have been working for months to get their voters registered and to the polls today.

Democratic Party Chairman John Reilly has said he thinks 40 per cent of the state's registered voters will vote today.

Democratic leaders in Milwaukee, Madison and Green Bay have been working to get their voters registered and to the polls today.

TORNADO ALLEY — High winds and tornadoes struck several Mid-South areas last night, with widespread damage near Paragould; between Monticello and Star City; and north of Crawfordsville near the Vincent community in Arkansas. Another hit north of Memphis near Millington. Areas near Covington also were hit.
—Staff Map by Joe Sheridan

Tornado Strikes Near Millington; At Least 30 Hurt

An estimated 30 to 40 persons were injured when a tornado slammed through the Shady Lawn Trailer Court at 7860 Raleigh-Millington Road, near the climax of a night in which violent weather left persons dead in Arkansas and Tennessee.

Two persons were reported dead at Atoka, Tenn., 35 miles northeast of Memphis, late last night and seven were known dead after an earlier tornado which ripped from the Star City, Ark., area before disappearing around Hughes.

Eleven persons went to Crittenden Memorial Hospital in West Memphis, Ark., after deputies and Arkansas State Police freed them from the rubble of houses which were wrecked in Vincent, Ark., and four others were taken there after a house trailer was overturned at James Mill.

Shelby County Sheriff William N. Morris Jr. said a father and his child were believed to be the only persons seriously injured when the tornado hit the southwest quadrant of the trailer park south of Millington where 250 to 300 trailers are usually parked.

He said the man was injured when hit by a flying television. Most of the injured were being taken to Navy Hospital in Millington.

Residents in the trailer court said they had almost no warning of the storm which hit around 10 p.m.

"We were both in our back bedroom and we had just went to bed," said Mrs. Michael Damon. "I told my husband that I knew it was fixing to do something. I told him to go grab the baby. Just as we got to her room the trailer turnedover. We had just a few bruises . . . thank the good Lord."

Robert Mueller of the Millington Fire Department, who lives at the trailer park, stood beside his demolished trailer with a double-barreled shotgun and said he, his wife, daughter, three sons and a granddaughter were in the trailer when a television crashed through a wall of the trailer and landed in bed with one of his sons. No one was injured.

Refugees from the park and about 40 persons who were separated from their families were at Baker Community Center near the trailer park. Sheriff Morris said arrangements were made for lodging for all the park residents.

"We were lucky on injuries," he said. Four looters were said to have been run out of the park after the storm.

Officials still were totaling damage to at least 40 trailers, many turned over and ripped by high winds that accompanied the twister.

Tennessee Highway Patrol officers said the two dead at Atoka were found in the wreckage of a house that was believed hit when the tornado traveled north from Millington.

Public information officers at the Naval Air Station said power was lost at the station at 9:45 p.m. and personnel were ordered to take cover at 9:58.

One woman was said to have been seriously injured when the storm hit her house on Mudville Road just east of Bethel Road in Millington. She was taken to John Gaston Hospital. Two other injuries were reported in a damaged house in the same area.

As the tornado moved north, the Tipton County sheriff's office reported that Gift, Tenn., five miles east of Covington, was hard hit.

Power outages were reported in several West Tennessee areas.

Weather Bureeau spokesmen said they believed damage was caused by only on etornado that moved from Crittendon County into Tennessee. An earlier storm pattern left six of seven dead in the Star City-Monticello area along Arkansas Highway 81.

The other victim was in Green County near Paragould. Victims were not identified.

The tornado near Star City lifted scores of cars from the pavement and dumped them as far as 100 yards from the road.

One of the dead was reported crushed when his car was buried under asphalt the tornado picked up from the highway and dumped on his vehicle just after 7 p.m. About the same time, a twister did extensive damage near Paragould where damage to a manufacturing plant was estimated at 1.5 million dollars.

Officials in Crittenden County, Ark., and several West Tennessee counties said last night that searches were underway for survivors or persons left homeless by the storms.

In Memphis, when Civil Defense sirens were sounded, many persons reported they tried to get into buildings marked as shelters and found them locked.

King Challenges Court Restraint, Vows To March

But US Attorney Says Ban To Be Enforced, Even If Troops Needed

Attorneys representing Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. go before United States Dist. Judge Bailey Brown at 9:30 this morning to challenge a temporary restraining order against any mass march here.

Dr. King and others planning a Monday march in support of striking sanitation workers yesterday appeared headed toward a possible clash with the order — if it remains in force.

"We are not going to be stopped by Mace or injunctions," said Dr. King.

But United States Atty. Thomas Robinson said the temporary order will be enforced even if it means calling in federal troops.

Dr. King's attorneys, Louis Lucas, Walter Bailey and Lucius Burch, talked behind closed doors with Judge Brown for about an hour yesterday. They are expected this morning to challenge the jurisdiction of the federal courts to stop the march.

Dr. King said granting of an injunction against the march would be "a basic denial of First Amendment privileges. We stand on the First Amendment. In the past on the basis of conscience we have had to break injunctions and if necessary we may do it (in Memphis). We'll cross that bridge when we come to it."

Mr. Robinson reacted quickly when asked about indications that any injunction may be ignored.

"We are going to see that the court's order is enforced until it is either amended or dissolved," the United States attorney said. "Such action as is necessary to enforce and respect the order will be taken." He pointed out that federal troops had been used to enforce federal court orders when James Meredith entered Ole Miss and when Central High School was desegregated in Little Rock.

"We are making sure that Dr. King and others are being informed so there will be no question that the community knows of this restraining order," Mr. Robinson said.

Within minutes after Judge Brown signed the restraining order yesterday two United States marshals sped across town to serve Negro leaders with copies of the order. They found Dr. King and four other defendants named in the injunction, Hosea Williams, The Rev. James Orange, Ralph D. Abernathy and Bernard Lee, eating lunch at the Lorraine Motel. Dr. King greeted the federal officers, Marshall Cato Ellis and Deputy Marshal Willie Durham, in the driveway of the motel and the defendants accepted service of the order. Dr. King said a sixth defendant, The Rev. James Bevel, was out of town but promised to notify marshals when the minister returns.

The city's petition for the injunction against the march is based generally on the idea that the mass march led by Dr. King last Thursday turned into a riot and, therefore, the city has good reason to fear more civil disorder if another mass march is held. The city justified going into federal court on grounds of diversity of citizenship—in other words the named defendants are not residents of Tennessee — and by raising certain federal questions spelled out in various civil rights acts.

The city said it also was seeking the injunction as a means of protecting Dr. King and others working with him.

"We are fearful that in the turmoil of the moment someone may even harm Dr. King's life," said City Atty. Frank Gianotti, "and with all the force of language we can use we want to emphasize that we don't want that to happen."

The city's petition said "unless it (the city) acts to avoid a repetition of said activities of March 28 (the day of the riot), that it, through its duly elected officials and representatives, will have by inaction, permitted the rights guaranteed aforesaid to citizens, both white and Negro, to be violated."

Mr. Gianotti suggested that the court may want to allow the march to proceed but set certain guidelines such as the number that may participate.

LBJ Going To Hawaii Today To Consult On Peace Moves, Set Stage For Red Meeting

US Wary Of Bid To Talk Of Peace On Enemy Terms

NEWS ANALYSIS

By JAMES RESTON
The New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON, April 3. — The administration is eager to talk to North Vietnam about Hanoi's latest peace proposals, but it is frankly suspicious that it is merely being invited to talk about ending the war on the enemy's terms.

The fear in official quarters here is that the Hanoi government has misjudged the recent political convulsion in the United States, and may be acting on the illusion that the departure of former Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, the replacement of Gen. William Westmoreland, and the forthcoming retirement of President Johnson mean that the administraton is prepared to accept Hanoi's four-point peace plan.

This, of course, the Johnson administration is not prepared to do. It still regards the Hanoi proposals as an invitation to surrender, and is standing on Johnson's statement of last Sunday that "the United States will never accept a fake solution to this long and arduous struggle and call it peace."

The main difference between Hanoi's latest proposals and its previous suggestions is that the North Vietnamese government has dropped its demand that all bombing and other acts of war against North Vietnam be stopped before it would talk. Now it has offered to talk first but only about acceptance of precisely the same terms.

Nevertheless, the administration is following up the latest proposal in the hope that the preliminary talks will lead to a wider agenda, and hopefully, to some kind of arrangement to limit military activity on both sides while the tanks proceed.

The purpose of Johnson's trip to Hawaii Thursday night is apparently to review the strategic and diplomatic situation in the light of the recent enemy offensive against the cities and Hanoi's quick but limited response to the President's Sunday night appeal for peace.

It is also important to define with the greatest precision the instructions to be given to the envoys who will contact Hanoi's officials, and if possible to get agreement to the negotiating instructions from the South Vietnamese government, which has been increasingly uneasy about the trend of United States policy in Vietnam ever since the reassignment of Westmoreland and the announcement of Johnson's retirement and a new de-escalation policy.

What Hanoi is asking is that the United States agree to "the unconditional cessation of the United States bombing raids and all other acts of war against the Democratic Republic of Vietnam so that talks may start." This raises some significant questions.

If this were accepted by the United States, could American planes make reconnaissance flights over North Vietnam to watch for the movement of supplies toward the Demilitarized Zone and South Vietnam?

Or would Hanoi be free to resupply its troops at the Demilitarized Zone and keep shipping arms and men into the South? The answers to these questions could obviously affect the balance of power in the war.

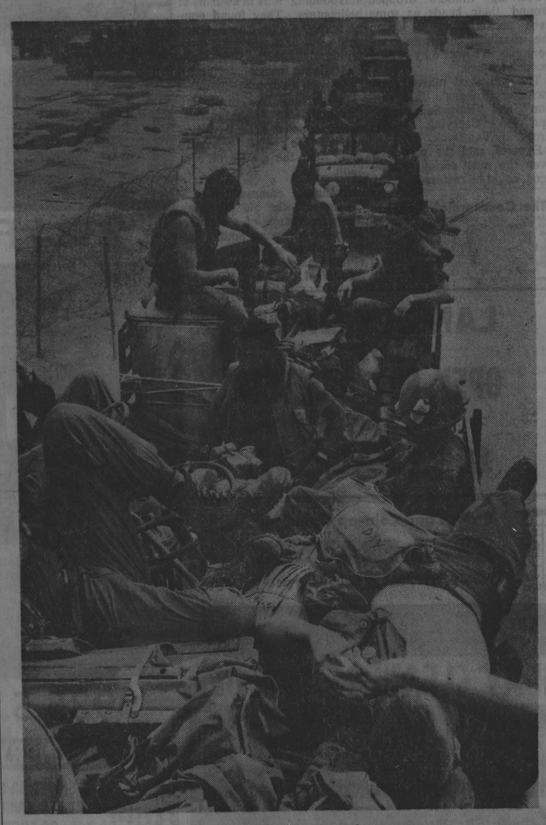
There is no disposition here to prejudge Hanoi's reasons for agreeing to limited talks while the bombing continues. Officials are skeptical, but they are also leaving room for the possibility that the enemy was badly hurt in the recent battle for the cities and feels that he did well enough to claim a victory and agree to a compromise.

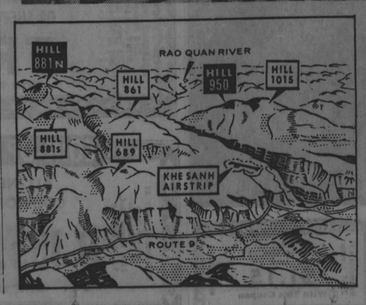
In any event, the United States government wants to be sure about the precise terms under which protracted negotiations would continue. The talks that ended the Korean War with the Communists went on from July 10, 1951, until July 27, 1953, and in this two-year period, United States casualties are higher than in any other phase of the war.

Also it is recognized here that once serious negotiations—as distinguished from brief prelimnary talks — begin and the attention of the world is focused on them, it would be extremely difficult to break them off without an outcry all over the world, even if the North Vietnamese continued sending men and supplies into the South.

So much has been said about the importance of starting talks, any kind of talks, that this has come to be regarded as a sign of impendng peace.

Officials here do not rule this out, but they think serious negotiations — if these can be started after the preliminary phase — will be carried on for a long time while the fighting continues in the South.





PUSHING WEST — Troops of the First Cavalry Division sprawl on top of their equipment as they move out in operation Pegasus, the big push west to clear Highway 9 to Khe Sanh. The bastion, which Hanoi claims will be a burial ground for the 6,000 Marines and 1,000 Vietnamese troops stationed there, lies on a plateau above the road and Rao Quan River valley. Two of the surrounding hills (indicated by black in the map) are held by the North Vietnamese.

HANOI OFFER OF TALKS ACCEPTED BY JOHNSON

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON, April 3. — (UPI) — The United States and North Vietnam took a small but enormously significant step Wednesday toward preliminary diplomatic discussions that could lead to an end of the Vietnam War.

First, the Hanoi government declared in a radio broadcast its willingness to meet with American representatives to discuss "the unconditional cessation of the United States bombing raids and all other acts of war against the Democratic Republic of Vietnam so that talks may start."

Then President Johnson told newsmen he was accepting Hanoi's offer.

He announced the United States "will establish contact with the representatives of North Vietnam. Consultations with the government of South Vietnam and other allies are now taking place."

The President also said he would fly to Honolulu, Hawaii, late Thursday evening for a long weekend of conferences with American officials from South Vietnam.

Johnson did not say how contact would be made with North Vietnam, or when or where.

Geneva, Switzerland, was considered a likely site. The President already has said his prime negotiators in the event North Vietnam chose to respond to his curtailment of the bombing raids would be Ambassador-at-large W. Averell Harriman and Llewellyn E. Thompson, ambassador to the Soviet Union.

There was no word from Moscow or any other world capital Wednesday to shed light on the President's specific plans. But it was obvious that Johnson, after a full and hectic day of urgent assessments, considered the Hanoi statement to be genuine enough to warrant a serious response.

The President had a lengthy afternoon meeting with his leading advisers and then went out to a White House driveway before a battery of cameras, microphones and newsmen.

He read a statement quoting from an official United States government transcript of an English-language broadcast of the North Vietnamese government statement. The English version followed a Vietnamese-language broadcast of the same statement.

The President said:

"Today the government of North Vietnam made a statement which included the following paragraph:

"However for its part, the government of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam declares its readiness to appoint its representative to contact the United States representative with a view to determining with the American side the unconditional cessation of the United States bombing raids and all other acts of war against the Democratic Republic of Vietnam so that talks may start.'

"Last Sunday I expressed the position of the United States with respect to peace in Vietnam and Southeast Asia. In that statement I said: 'Now, as in the past, the United States is ready to send its representatives to any forum, at any time, to discuss the means of bringing this war to an end.'

"Accordingly, we will establish contact with the representatives of North Vietnam. Consultations with the government of South Vietnam and other allies are now taking place."

After reading the brief statement, Johnson said:

"So you may have as much notice as I am able to give you on another matter, I will be leaving tomorrow evening late for Honolulu and will meet with certain of the American representatives from South Vietnam for a series of meetings over the weekend in Hawaii."

Outside the paragraph indicating readiness to initiate talks, the Hanoi statement was devoted to its usual harsh denunciations of the United States and oft-expressed determination to fight to final victory.

The Pentagon said Defense Secretary Clark Clifford and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, will accompany the President to Hawaii. A Saigon headquarters source said Gen. William C. Westmoreland is expected to fly to Honolulu Thursday or Friday to join in the talks.

Bridwell Urges Park Route OK

US Official Says Council Should Decide; Sees No Easy Alternative

By LARRY SCROGGS

Federal Highway Administrator Lowell Bridwell last night told city councilmen they should decide what to do about the Overton Park expressway route and said "if you don't build it through the park there is no nice, easy way to do it."

"What we are talking about are comparative values, best decided by elected representatives of the people who will have to live with the results," Mr. Bridwell told members of the City Council and representatives of the state Highway Department at the beginning of a three-hour meeting last night.

The highway administrator told the council it had three alternatives. No. 1, you don't build the road at all; No. 2, you build it outside the park and three, you build it through the park."

He said the first choice would deny the city a limited access highway, direct routes through the city and superior traffic service to residents who want to travel east and west.

Building it outside the park would be heavily offset because "essentially, all the right of way has been purchased and plans are underway that are foreclosed."

Council Chairman Downing Pryor said he thought he spoke for the council when he said he believed the expressway would have to go through the park.

Mr. Bridwell said a northerly route could be planned but the consequences would be the removal of a larger number of acres and trees, the probable elimination of an opportunity for the interchange of major traffic at East Parkway and removal of a substantial number of houses and apartment buildings.

It was agreed that several buildings of the zoo would have to be removed and relocated or reconstructed with a northerly route.

Charles Speight, state highway commissioner, said of the original proposed route, "We think we've got the best, the most feasible and the least expensive route."

The council adjourned until 4 p.m. today for another session on the question.

When asked if he thought a final decision would be reached today, Mr. Pryor said, "I don't know."

Mrs. Gwen Awsumb said, "I hope so."
